There are three Argentine women who are also in this country. Andy's met with them; they will probably come here. Brady Tyson has the idea of combining the two groups: the five Chileans and the three Argentinians for a visit to, first Christopher and then to the White House. He says that both groups of women have agreed to this joint approach.

One of the Argentinian women received her daughter's hands in a bottle from the police with a notice that her daughter had been killed trying to escape.

He also reports that the hunger strike may have ended this afternoon in spite of the news we got this morning.
